Diana Garle is an actor, podcaster, teaching artist, influencer and travel enthusiast.

As a teaching artist, I teach the fundamentals of Acting for both theater and film.

Students learn how to deconstruct characters emotionally and physically. Coaching sessions are designed to build confidence, develop mind-body connection and strengthen audition technique. Using games, scene study and improv exercises students learn what it takes to be a triple threat in the the industry ultimately improve confidence within themselves by promoting critical thinking, problem solving and positive self discovery. I am a firm believer that through the arts we can raise awareness within the youth in our community as well as fostering personal growth and confidence.
